HOW TO USE THIS BOOKLET

If you had ancestors in London, then joining a Family History Society is a good way to find out more about them. London Westminster and Middlesex Family History Society has used its local knowledge of the many repositories and record centres available for the Greater London area to create a unique series of Parish Guides to the different districts, towns, villages and hamlets in their area. The Parish Guides are named after the Ancient Parishes because these were the organisational hubs which generated the records that family historians need. (Civil Parishes took over from Ancient Parishes in the 1860s, followed by Urban District Councils in 1894 and then London Boroughs in 1965.) These Parish Guides show the well-known sources of information, with dates covered and whether records are also online, together with more unusual archives which might contain mentions of ancestors.

This Which Place is Where guide is designed to help you locate places in the parts of Greater London which are looked after by London Westminster & Middlesex Family History. You can look up the name of a district, such as ‘Agar Town’ and you will find out which Ancient Parish covered it and whether it has already been published as a Parish Guide. (For the City of London the booklets will be arranged into Wards as the parishes are so tiny.) A new guide is being published every two months so ones not yet done will be coming out in quick succession.

Greater London was and is a complicated and densely populated place, so to help people who do not know the area we have also shown as shaded other districts which are inside the M25 but are looked after by other family history societies – we have indicated which Family History Society you would need to contact to find out more about these areas.

You can buy our Parish Guides online from the following shops:
